RETIREMENT OF REGISTRAR SIMON CHRISTOPHER STEDMAN DIXON

Today is the final sitting day of Registrar Simon Dixon, who is retiring as a registrar of the Court after close to 26 years of service.

Registrar Dixon has been at the forefront of numerous reforms over that time, including the introduction of case management by registrars and the development of the Court's successful mediation practice. He has served on many committees, within the Court and the wider legal profession.

Registrar Dixon's courteous and collegiate presence within the Court will be greatly missed.

On behalf of the Court, I extend our sincerest thanks for Registrar Dixon's commitment and dedicated service to the administration of justice in this State.

We offer him our very best wishes in his retirement and future endeavours.
