David Malcolm Justice Centre

28 Barrack Street

PERTH WA 6000

When not required by the Supreme Court or other Western Australian Courts, the David Malcolm Justice Centre has hearing rooms available for hire on a commercial user-pays basis (fees are applicable).

Hearing rooms may be hired for:

- Arbitrations and adjudications;
- Mediations and conciliations; and
- Courts, Boards, Commissions and Tribunals.

Summaries of the hearing rooms available are included in this brochure.

Services

When hiring a room at the David Malcolm Justice Centre, the booking may include:

- Breakout rooms – The use of these rooms is subject to availability. Please note the breakout rooms are not lockable
- Security – all building visitors are subject to airport-style security screening

The rooms available at the David Malcolm Justice Centre are those used by the Supreme Court.

As the building is not a function centre, catering, refreshment and refrigeration facilities are not provided.

The Court is unable to provide Wi-Fi access, technical equipment, audio visual support, room modifications, housekeeping, or staffing resources.

Bookings must not interfere with the operations of the Court. Where the Court requires use of the facility, bookings may be cancelled or amended.

As the hearing rooms are utilised by the Supreme Court, restrictions apply in relation to use. Photography or filming is not permitted. The building or hired rooms cannot be used as part of advertising or promotional activities.
